

Jayhawk Generations

The apple never falls far from the tree

by Rachel Nyp

5 Fifth Generation

Throughout high school, Lacy Adams was on the move as a cross-country and track runner. A Wichita Collegiate High School graduate, she started out at Meade High School before trading life on the family ranch for city living. Quick to adjust, she was a Wichita River Festival Schoonermate and landed roles in school productions of “Aida” and “Beauty and the Beast.” With a Jayhawk history that includes a 1914 graduate, she’ll have no trouble adjusting to life on the Hill as she pursues a degree in journalism. Her parents are John, ’82, and Paula Graves Adams, f’82, g’87. She has KU heritage on both sides with grandparents Raymond, ’53, and Anne Gorbitt Adams, c’04, as well as Dean, e’56, g’63, and Ginny Ward Graves, c’57, whose parents were Paul Ward, c’30, and Mildred Lee Ward, ’33. Mildred’s father, Floyd Lee, c’14, g’16, started it all.

Although she’ll be the fifth generation to attend KU, Patricia Campbell was a first-string student at Blue Valley North High School, where she made the honor roll, played the viola in the orchestra, belonged to the Future Business Leaders of America club and spent her summers helping others on community service trips. On Mount Oread, she follows her parents, Donald, m’80, and Patty Robinson Campbell, n’76; grandfather, John Robinson, e’49; great-grandparents, David, c1906, and Aileen Weaver Robinson, c1906; and their mothers, Henrietta Beach Robinson, 1868, and Gertrude Bullene Weaver, c1877.

Teenagers often vow never to be like Mom or Dad. Yet some qualities are worth carrying on. Many in KU’s Class of 2010 have inherited their parents’ good sense and good taste in choosing a college. Here, we feature 224 of those who, like their ancestors, will have their own Mount Oread stories to share with the next generation.

The ‘Hawk heritage chronicled here, in our largest edition yet, hails back to 1886 and includes descendants from some of the earliest professors and most legendary KU supporters. This year also marks the first that freshmen have committed early to KU through the payment of an enrollment deposit, which enabled us to better identify legacy students. Kim Perry of the Alumni Association’s records department, with the help of University Archives, worked diligently to trace lineage, scouring scores of records. Each Association member was contacted and encouraged to submit information. Despite all our efforts to ensure the accuracy of this extensive roster, we recognize that students may have escaped our detection, and we apologize in advance for any omissions. Included are all freshmen who paid their enrollment deposit to the Office of Admissions and Scholarships by the May 1 deadline, whose parents are Association members and who submitted information to the Alumni Association by the extended deadline of July 15. We encourage any members with students planning to attend KU next year to submit information to us by June 30, 2007.

Kyle Martin isn't one to toot his own horn, although he did play the trombone well enough at Fossil Ridge High School to earn himself a spot on the Marching Jayhawks. A Fort Worth, Texas, native, he also presided over the National Honor Society and was named a Texas scholar. He plans a sports and fitness management major at KU. He is the son of Susan Dressler Martin, c'83, whose parents are Jack Dressler, c'52, and Jane Heywood Dressler Van Rheen, b'53. Jane's parents were Earl, c'29, and Rose McColloch Dressler, c'28. Alice Rose McColloch, c1905, was the first to walk the Hill.

Not many students list Pipers of the Plains on their résumés; Andrew

Pettavel does, by virtue of playing drums in the bagpipe band for nearly six years. A Washburn Rural High School graduate, Andrew's eclectic activities include summers in France, string bass in the school orchestra and an avid interest in soccer and medieval history. Andrew also spent much of his high school time caring for his sick grandmother. His parents are Paul, m'93, and Anne Horton Pettavel, f'74. His grandmother was Elizabeth Marshall Horton, c'42, who is the daughter of George, c'17, g'29, and Clara Carpenter Marshall, c'08. Her mother, Helen Weston Carpenter, attended with the Class of 1879.

At Blue Valley West High School, Elizabeth Schulte won several honors for her drawings, including the Scholastic Art Award and Westworks Award. She also cheered all four years and served as the yearbook editor and chief. Her crimson and blue family line starts with Professor L.D. Havenhill, p1903, and continues through two sets of great-grandparents: Marshall, e'22, and Mayme Wilson Havenhill, c'25, as well as Marvin, c'32, g'33, and Norine Howard Johnson, '33. Elizabeth's grandparents are Marshall, c'57, m'61, and Ann Johnson Havenhill, d'58, and her parents are Scott, c'83, g'93, and Amy Havenhill Schulte, d'83, of Overland Park.

Kirk Whitmer comes to KU from the Garden State. A Voorhees, N.J.,

resident, he got his marching orders from Eastern Regional High School, where he played in the drum line and wind ensemble. Kirk's interests include sketching, basketball, football, golf and snowboarding. His parents are Scott, b'75, and Sue Gile Whitmer, c'76, d'77. His legacy continues through his grandmother, Kathleen McKinney Whitmer, d'51; his great-grandparents, James, '24, and Mary Frances McKinney, c'24; and his great-great-grandmother, Kate Blair Evans, c1893, who worked alongside William Allen White at the Emporia Gazette.

4 Fourth Generation

Tish Barnett of Nixa, Mo., comes to KU via Ozark High School, where she was crowned Tiger royalty and cheered all four years. She also served on the student council; helped with the Youth Empowerment Project, a student non-profit organization; and worked at Missouri Valley Gymnastics. She follows her mother, Kelly Burke Barnett, c'80; grandparents, Paul "Bud" Burke, b'56, and Patricia Pierson Dowers, d'56; and great-grandparents, Paul, b'30, and Virginia Moling Burke, '31, and Ray Samuel Pierson, l'23.

Stewart Bernard played the field for Cair Paravel-Latin School in Topeka as captain of the football team. He also served as class president, was listed on the National Honor Roll and made his acting debut in "Servant of Two Masters." He'll have no trouble mastering Mount Oread with plenty of advice from KU family members: his parents, John, c'80, m'85, and Letitia Johnson Bernard, p'82; two sets of grandparents, Theodore, e'50, and Jane Hyde Bernard, f'50, and John, p'59, and Laura Willan Johnson, c'58; and three great-grandparents, McFreeman Hyde, PhD'39, and Daniel, g'76, and Elsie Coppock Heinrich, b'58, MSW'68.

At KU, Melia Blankenship will pursue the finer arts as a dual urban design and art history major. A graduate of Paola High School, she displayed her passion for the aesthetic world while winning several awards and leaving her mark on the building itself with the completion of two major murals. She also led the volleyball team as captain and served in SADD. Melia follows her mother, Susan Blankenship, f'76, d'78; grandparents, Floyd, '51, and Dana Durfee Hild, '52; and great-grandfather John Durfee, l'29.

Windy City-resident Lindsay Brunelli graduated from Loyola Academy. During her tenure, the wordsmith crafted award-winning passages, donated her time to the Life! Be In

It! service club, and lettered in sailing. Her family tree includes a professor; the owner of the Rowlands College Bookstore, now known as The Wheel; and an eyewitness to the 1970 Kansas Union arson. Her KU relatives are her mother, Cynthia Brunelli, b'76; grandparents, William Rowlands, c'51, and Alice Kinney Rowlands, '40; and great-grandfathers, Robert Rowlands, 1909, and Professor Edward Donald Kinney, e'30.

The Chalfant boys, identical twins Mike and Jack Chalfant, possess a double dose of Jayhawk credentials. Overland Park residents, they come to campus by way of Shawnee Mission East High School, where they were both champion swimmers. Their virtually identical résumés chronicle a state DECA win, Indian Hills Country Club duty and several community service stints. Their KU heritage hails back to 1923 and includes cousin, Elizabeth Ann Kennedy; parents, John, b'81, and Katherine Kennedy Chalfant, j'81; grandparents, Michael Chalfant, c'55, l'58, Virginia Child Shackelford, c'58, and Thomas, l'53, and Dorothy Wandling Kennedy, d'54. Alice Carney Kennedy, '23, was the first of three great-grandparents, counting Claude Chalfant, l'27, and Lee Wandling, '24.

Jack Couzens will arrive on the Hill from the Salisbury School in the foothills of Connecticut. A triple-threat in high school, he lettered in soccer, hockey and lacrosse while earning academic honors such as the History and Forestry Science Award. He's a direct descendant of Fred Anschutz, '33. Jack's line continues through grandmother, Sue Anschutz-Rodgers, d'55, and mother, Melinda Rodgers Couzens, c'83, of Denver. His grandfather, Porter Rodgers, m'61, also completed a short medical residency at KU.

KU will be par for the course for Kelsey Eriksen, a Hutchinson High School graduate, golfer, student council representative, cheerleader and honors student. Along with her extracurricular activities, she held down a paying gig at Alexander's Jewelry and donated her free time to various community service organizations such as the Boys & Girls Club, Valentines for Veterans and Relay for Life. Kelsey is the daughter of Jeff, b'79, and Marla Mugler Eriksen, b'79. Her KU grandparents are John, b'57, and Jane Faubion Eriksen, '58. John's parents are Carl, c'30, and Dorothy Eriksen, c'30.

Rebecca Ferm of Chanhausen, Minn., was on the ball at Chaska Senior High School as part of the varsity tennis team. She also participated in Girl Scouts, art club and several school productions. She is the daughter of Ann Cathcart, c'76. Her grandparents are Thompson, c'51, and Anita Boughton Cathcart, '43. Her great-grandfather is Lloyd Boughton, p'32, PhD'40.

Patrick Hampton Haverty of Leawood is a writer in the making after three semesters covering the Shawnee Mission East High School sports beat and three years on-air for the school TV station. In addition, he swam, ran track, played football and was involved in SHARE, a student volunteer organization. Patrick's KU roots include his parents, Tim, b'84, and Jennifer Jones Haverty, d'84; grandparents, Alvin, c'57, and Nancy Hampton Haverty, c'55, and Jerome Jones, c'50, l'52; and great-grandparents Ernest Hampton, c'26, l'29, as well as Richard, '12, and Maryzita Cahill Jones, '13.

Four-year varsity swimmer, Andrew Herwig of Overland Park is eager to take the plunge at KU. He graduated from Blue Valley Northwest High School, where he also served as vice president of the National Honor Society, played baseball and devoted time to the Alzheimer's Association.

Andrew is the son of Robert, c'77, and Susan Galyardt Herwig, '76. His grandparents are Andy, '65, and Cynthia Galyardt, '66, and Bill Herwig, b'50, who is the son of Fredrick Herwig, '22.

Theodore Hodges was a cut above the rest at Salina Central High School, where he was a member of the Kanza club's national championship fencing team and won the "I Dare You" Award for Outstanding Junior. He also participated in the National Honor Society, lettered on the football team, and qualified for the national VFW Voice of Democracy Audio Essay contest. His KU kin are parents, Merle "Boo," c'79, m'83, and Melissa Rose Hodges, f'88; grandparents, Merle, c'55, m'58, and Nancy Hutton Hodges, d'55, and Edwin, '57, and Gayle Kinemond Rose, d'59; and great-grandparent, Josephine Jacquain Hutton, '32.

With a champion's voice, Elizabeth Ann Kennedy will have no trouble carrying the "Crimson and Blue" tune of her new alma mater. She sang with the choir all four years at Shawnee Mission East High School, where she also joined the chorus for musical productions. In addition, Elizabeth volunteered with the Parkinson Foundation of the Heartland and Habitat for Humanity while manning the register at a local store, Under the Palm Tree, and working as a nanny. She joins cousins, the Chalfant twins, on the Hill. Her parents are Robert, assoc., and Debra Dicus Kennedy, d'80, of Mission Hills. Her grandparents are Thomas, l'53, and Dorothy Wandling Kennedy, d'54; and Jack, b'55, and Betty Bubb Dicus, b'55. Lee Wandling, '24, and Henry, '28, and Elizabeth Black Bubb, '29, are her great-grandparents.

Janell McDonald wore two crowns as Princess Satanta and Homecoming Queen. At Satanta High School, Janell also captained the cheerleading squad, ran track, and volunteered with various community service organizations. She is the daughter of Robert Scott McDonald, b'80, and the granddaughter of Charles, b'56, and Charlene McDonald, '57, whose parents were Wayne, c'28, and Loraine Mace McCoy, '31.

Cassandra Merryfield follows her mother to KU and into the schol halls of Sellards, where she'll work toward a music education major. The 2005 Kansas Honor Scholar graduated from Shawnee Mission Northwest High School, where she marched in the Cougar pep band and participated in National Honor Society. She is the daughter of Roger, b'80, and Zoann Banker Merryfield, j'79, whose father is Dean Banker, b'50. Great-grandfather, Louis Waldo Banker, '15, started it all.

Chris Nance didn't miss a beat at Lafayette High School. The Wildwood, Mo., resident played tenor for the award-winning drum line, which traveled to Ohio to compete in the WGI world championship and played in the Gator Bowl. He is the son of Charles Nance, e'78, and traces his legacy through his grandparents, John, c'51, and Martha Thomson Nance, c'78, and great-grandmother, Luciel Cress Nance, m'48.

Topeka native Alexandra Nelson is ready to dive into classes at KU. She graduated from Washburn Rural High School, where she was on the swimming and diving team as well as Model U.N., National Honor Society and the newspaper. She is the daughter of Jay, j'94, and Heidi Hemmingsen Nelson, c'83. Her grandparents, James, c'52, m'59, and Joanne Wellman Nelson, '52, carried on the tradition started by Joe Wellman, c'27.

It won't take long for Clarice Penzler to find her feet on Mount Oread. A future member of the Rock Chalk Dancers, she's danced for more than 15 years as a private student and on the Lawrence Free State High School pom squad. Also a volleyball, swim and Spanish club member, she plans to put her language skills to good use as a double major in Spanish and business. Her KU family tree includes parents, Craig, a'81, and Cindy Emig Penzler, c'81, m'85, along with grandparents, Dale, '56, and Clarice Gertson Emig, c'57, the daughter of Emery Gertson, m'34.

Adam Phillips is a two-year quiz bowl whiz and a graduate of Lawrence High School, where he took the stage all four years as a theatre player. Before coming to KU, he journeyed to Germany to participate in the Lawrence-Eutin exchange program. His Jayhawk heritage includes his mother, Elizabeth Phillips, j'78, who is the daughter of John, c'48, l'50, and Barbara Hagan MacGregor. His great-grandfather is Riley William MacGregor, l'16.

At Shawnee Mission East High School Elizabeth Ralls was a Gridiron Girl, who managed the football team. She also managed a first place DECA state win and the "Volunteer of the Year" Award at Sirius Dog Adoptions. Her mother is Anne Henry, d'72, l'75, the daughter of Clarke, c'44, m'47, g'52, and Jane Priest Henry, c'46. Her Jayhawk great-grandparents are Trine Latta Henry, c'14, and Eva Dimond Priest, '20.

Betsy Robb plans to crunch numbers at KU with a major in secondary education and an emphasis in math. She graduated from Newton High School and saved the school newspaper along with competing on the volleyball and basketball courts. Her parents are Joe, b'82, and Joy Hanson Robb, c'82, g'86. She has two sets of KU grandparents: George, c'48, l'50, and Dineen Somers Robb, c'47; and Norman, b'48, g'51, PhD'86, and Lois Hanson, '84. Judge John Glenn Somers, l'15, began the tradition.

Clark Stinson of Leawood joins his sister, Katherine, as the 26th member of his Jayhawk family to head to the Hill. A graduate of Blue Valley High School, he led the swim team as captain and earned his place in the National Honor Society. His KU clan includes his parents, Michael, f'82, and Cari Ullom Stinson, '79; his grandparents, Bob, b'56, and Mary Flora Stinson, '58; and his great-grandfather, C.S. Flora, '22.

This fall the Rock Chalk Chant will sound loud and clear from veteran cheerleader Megan Sayler of Mission Hills. A Shawnee Mission East High School graduate, she led the Lancers as co-captain of her team. The honors student also swam; chaired SHARE, a student non-profit organization; and worked summers as a lifeguard. Her parents are Scott, b'83, l'86, and Nancy Zarda Sayler, c'83. The KU legacy continues on her father's side with William Sayler, b'57, and his parents, John, a'31, and Roberta Nelson Sayler, c'30.

A man of many talents, Scott Sturgeon of Leawood graduated from Blue Valley North High School, where he played in the band, ran track, became an Eagle Scout,

Graham Stark spent his days at Shawnee Mission East High School ducking and diving as the founder of the school's first dodge ball club. But he did not duck his responsibilities, earning an award for educational excellence, a letter in cross country and gratitude as a community volunteer. He is the son of Rita Evans Stark, c'76. His grandparents are Ray, b'47, and Edith Darby Evans, d'47; her mother was Edith Darby, '17.

served on the student council and acted in the school's comedy troupe. His parents are John, c'84, m'89, and Samantha Lee Sturgeon, d'84. His grandparents, Edwin, c'50, l'52, and Diana Cruse Lee, d'55, continued the KU tradition started by Maurine Morley Cruse, c'28.

John Bradford Sullivan joins his brother, Patrick, on the Hill, where he plans a chemical engineering major. The Leawood resident graduated from Shawnee Mission East High School and lettered in cross country and track while there. His KU ancestry includes Henry, c'18, m'20, and Helen Francis Wedd Sullivan, c'18; Henry, c'49, m'52, and Mary Huse Sullivan, c'49, and John's father, Brad Sullivan, c'76, m'79.

Scott Toland graduated as a tennis champ and cross-country captain from Iola High School, where he stole the show with roles in several school productions. Managing deadlines and headlines, he served on the staff of the IHS Messenger and plans to continue his journalism pursuits at KU. Scott is the son of John, c'66, l'69, and Karen Jeffries Toland, '01. His grandparents are Stanley, c'30, l'32, and June Thompson Toland, c'36, who is the daughter of Lucy Wilson Thompson, 1911.

Riley Voth acted out at Topeka West High School as an improv and musical performer. The tenor also sang in the choir, ran track and led his class as vice president. He is the son of Eric, c'77, m'81, and Michelle Hughes Voth, c'77, g'79. His grandfather is Harold Voth, m'47. His great-grandfather is Albert Voth, c'35.

3 Third Generation

Brett Barker graduated from Hutchinson High School and joins his brother, Ross, c'05, as a Jayhawk. No stranger to sports, he spent fall of his senior year with the winning team—the State 6A Championship Football team that is—and prepared for afternoons in Marvin Grove with the Ultimate Frisbee Club. Academically, he served on the student council and earned a spot on the honor roll. His parents are Stanton, c'76, m'79, and Lisa Schmitt Barker, c'77, and his grandfather on Lisa's side is Warren Schmitt, '45.

As a leader at Stockton High School, Renee Berkley had her hands in a little bit of everything, including student organizations KAYS, FCCLA and TASK, as well as band, basketball and volleyball. As if that weren't enough, she also helped hold down the fort at the family business, The Stockton National Bank. Her Jayhawk legacy includes her father, James Berkley, b'72, and her grandfather, Jack Berkley, b'48.

Overland Park ace Matthew Cummings served on the varsity tennis squad at Blue Valley North High School. His activities also included basketball and membership in the Mustang Rough Riders. He is the son of Dan Cummings, b'79, g'86, and Nancy DeYoung Lauerman, c'79, the daughter of Leon, b'50, and Winifred DeYoung, c'50.

After four years of cheerleading, Caroline Davis DeGoler of Leawood will have no trouble rooting for the crimson and blue. A graduate of Shawnee Mission East High School, the honor roll student also shared much of her time with SHARE—a community service organization—and received awards for outstanding scholastic achievement and the all-star award from the Universal Cheerleading Association. Her parents are James, c'83, and Janie Daugherty DeGoler, c'82, and her grandparents are William Daugherty, c'48, and James, p'56, and Patricia Davis DeGoler, c'55.

Andrew Demo of Shawnee follows his parents, Bradford Demo, d'84, and Janine Gracy, d'85, g'91, as well as his grandfather, Jerry Demo, l'59, to the Hill. A graduate of Mill Valley High School, he spent much of his time chipping in on the school's golf team. He also led his class as student body president and valedictorian. Andrew volunteered as a math tutor and wrote a grant to support tobacco prevention. He plans an engineering major at KU.

Kathleen Kelly Dempsey, a seasoned swimmer, plans to make a splash at KU. She graduated from Lawrence Jeanne Glotzbach Drisko, m'79, who was recently named the Hugh D. Riordan Professor in Orthomolecular Medicine at the KU Medical Center. Her Jayhawk lineage continues through her paternal grandfather, Robert Drisko, c'39, m'41.

One of 19 family members to attend the University, Amanda Frederick of Lawrence Free State High School has big shoes to fill. Like her parents, she graduated as her class valedictorian and will be a schol hall resident. At KU she plans to follow her father with an English major, but will strike out on her own with study abroad plans in the U.K. Amanda received several scholarships including a Coca-Cola merit scholarship and an Academic All-Star designation from the Lawrence Journal World. Her parents are Joel, d'81, g'92, and Diana Seely Frederick, c'82. Her grandparents are Donald Frederick, '69, and Gene, '81, and Arline Seely-Bensch, g'86.

Free State High School, where she also was a member of the National Honor Society, marched with the band and managed the boys' soccer team. Her parents are Brian Dempsey, n'86, l'94, and Amy Patton Speirs, n'86. Her Jayhawk grandfather is John Patton, p'67.

Grayson Dillon found his home on the Bishop Seabury Academy court as captain of the basketball team and will no doubt be at home at KU, the birthplace of the sport. In addition to basketball, he played tennis, ran cross-country and volunteered with Habitat for Humanity, LINK and Walk to the Future. He is the son of Reed, c'79, and Stacey Satterthwaite Dillon, c'79, of Lawrence and the grandson of Richard, '51, and Carolyn Dillon, '53.

At Olathe East Calen Gerstenberger was a triple-threat, lettering in basketball, baseball and football. At KU, he'll be focusing his energies on a different draft, in the department of architecture. Calen is the son of Terry, d'83, g'89, and Kimberly Ann Gerstenberger, '84, and the grandson of Wayne Gerstenberger, c'56.

Katherine Drisko of Prairie Village trades Pembroke Hill School for the Hill. She comes to KU as a lacrosse pioneer, who co-founded the first women's Kansas City team. She also danced on the varsity squad, took the field hockey field and volunteered at Operation Breakthrough. Her parents are Robert, m'79, and

Ashley Green of Overland Park graduated from Blue Valley Northwest High School, where she was an honor student. She volunteered at Animal Haven, and worked at the Oxford Animal Hospital. A true animal lover, she should have no trouble embracing the KU mascot. She plans to major in architecture. Her parents are Jerry, g'84, and Karen Wayne Green, c'85. Her paternal grandmother is Sharon King Green, '62.

Eagle Scout Jeffery Griswold of Wichita graduated from Goddard High School and will follow his family's trail all the way to the KU aerospace engineering program. Jeff got his engineering start at the national BEST robotics competition in high school, where he also lettered in tennis and bowling and performed in a comedy sketch troupe. His parents are Douglas, e'77, g'81, and Margaret Hodson Griswold, d'75. He has two sets of Jayhawk grandparents: James, e'53, and Rebecca Garvin Griswold, p'53; and Charles, c'41, l'50, and Margaret Brown Hodson, c'43.

Lawrence Free State High School, where she led the basketball team as captain, served on the student council and sang in the choir. Her long list of activities includes LINK, a community kitchen; the Ronald McDonald House Food Drive; and a stint with J.B. Stout's restaurant. Her parents are Mark, c'75, and Chris Pollard Heider, d'76, g'95; and her Jayhawk grandparents are Glen Heider, '61, and Reese, d'51, EdD'71, and Audrey Pollard, g'80.

Scout's honor: David Gunter of Leawood graduated from Blue Valley North High while playing football and baseball, working two jobs, volunteering for KC Reads and earning the rank of Eagle Scout. He is the son of Michael, c'80, and Jennifer Hurst Gunter, d'80. His legacy continues on his mother's side with grandparents, Allan Hurst, b'57, and Helen Martin Hurst Mann, '57.

Thespians Mason Heilman took the stage at Lawrence Free State High. Mason, who was also involved in choir, band, student council and swimming, volunteered to help the homeless while still maintaining a paying gig as a Subway sandwich artist. He is the son of Steve, a'79, and Sally Carter Heilman, p'81. His maternal grandfather is Jack Carter, e'51.

Michael Harris of Oklahoma arrives on the Hill ahead of the game after completing AP classes in calculus and economics. At Jenks High School, he also earned the Oklahoma Academic Scholar award and the President's Outstanding Academic Excellence Award while lending a hand at Cairnbrae Farms. Michael's father is Richard Harris, c'80. His legacy continues through the senior Richard Harris, c'49, l'51, and his grandmother, Jean Waddell Harris, c'53.

Spencer Hewitt hails from Wichita's North High School and will be the third Hewitt heir to join the Jayhawks. A wordsmith, he edited the school paper, as a member of the Quill and Scroll honor society and behind the desk for Instant Replay, a local sports magazine. Athletically, Spencer fought hard on the Redskin football field as a starter. His KU line includes his father, Grant Hewitt, c'76, and his grandfather, Donald Hewitt, e'49.

Valedictorian and volleyball star Sarah Anne Heider is ready to strike out on her own after graduating from

Daphne Hiatt of Kansas City comes to KU with pen in hand, after writing and illustrating for the Kansas City Star's "Teenstar" and her school newspaper at Notre Dame De Sion. Also a violinist, she made melodies with her fellow students in the Youth Symphony of Kansas City. Daphne is the daughter of Roger Hiatt, g'83, and Patricia Haegelin-Hiatt, c'77, g'87. Her grandfather is Eugene Hiatt, c'39, and her grandmother is Elizabeth Haegelin, j'76.

diamond and golf course. Ben is the son of Joel, c'81, m'85, and Jeanette Scheopner Hornung, h'81, and the grandson of Paul Hornung, m'49, and Roberta Near Heaton, n'49.

A real trouper, Caitlin Hilton graduated from Lawrence High School and participated in marching band, swim team, FYI Club and Girl Scouts. She'll apply her survival skills on campus this fall, but won't have to look hard for a friendly face as she joins her grandfather James LaPoint, associate professor of health, sport and exercise science, at KU. Caitlin is the daughter of Mark, d'91, g'97, and Jill Hilton LaPoint, d'92. Her legacy continues on her mother's side with grandmother, Jacqueline Churchill Hilton, d'65.

Jonathan Tyler Hutsell, an Illinois native, considered himself fortunate to play on the Deerfield High School lacrosse team and receive a service award from the local Optimist Club. In his spare time, he focused on the less fortunate and volunteered in Mexico, Costa Rica and in the states after Hurricane Katrina. He joins his sister, Jennifer, d'03, g'06; his parents, Jeff Hutsell, c'75, and Sara Cooper Hutsell, c'76; and his grandparents, Robert, e'50, and Barbara Zuercher Cooper, c'47, as a Jayhawk.

Andrew Hocker of Lenexa enjoyed a sweet run at Shawnee Mission's Northwest High School, where he qualified for the Hershey semi-finals in track and played basketball in the Great American League. Destined to become an IT buff, he spends his spare time tinkering with computers and programming stuff. Andrew is the son of John Hocker, b'81, g'83, and Connie Bushnell Kern, f'83, and the grandson of Elizabeth Hocker, MSW'66.

Cross-country runner Elizabeth Kretzmeier took the rigors of high school in stride. She graduated from Iola High School as a valedictorian, was a member of the National Honor Society, received a 4-H Key Award, and was recognized as a Kansas Honor Scholar. For her next leg, she'll major in biology on the Hill. She follows in the footsteps of her father, Jay Kretzmeier, b'75, and grandfather, Orville Kretzmeier, b'42.

Ben Hornung led his class as valedictorian and class president at Council Grove High. He also proved himself to be a team player on the football field, baseball

Leawood native Emily LaGree graduated from Blue Valley North High School, where she participated in National Honor Society, swam on the varsity team, played club volleyball, and received numerous awards, including the Presidential Award for Volunteer Community Service. Emily is the daughter of Bryan LaGree, b'80, l'84, who is the son of Richard LaGree, b'53.

Forensics buff Alexandra Machen starred at Quinter High School in "The Diary of Anne Frank" and "Once Upon a Mattress."

In addition to her acting debuts, she played volleyball and basketball, while still finding time to become valedictorian of her class. Her parents are Michael, c'77, m'83, and Susan Schirmer Machen, '83. Her maternal grandparents, Gerald, '54, and Nancy Moore Schirmer, d'68, started the KU family tradition.

Bailey McFarlane, a star student and tennis player, graduated at the top of her class from Blue Valley West High School, where she also cheered and danced. Bailey is the daughter of Theodore, e'71, l'76, h'77, and Marcia Hallenbeck McFarlane, j'98, of Overland Park and the granddaughter of Robert McFarlane, '41.

Stuart Miller will join his brother, Jeff, on the Hill this fall. He hails from Overland Park and graduated from Shawnee Mission East High School, where he played soccer and basketball. His parents are Larry, b'78, and Corliss Chandler Miller, c'78, g'81, daughter of Topeka alumnus Anderson Chandler, b'48.

J. Brendan Mitchelson, known to his fellow St. Mary's-Colgan High School prom attendees as Mr. Senior, excelled on the field and in the classroom. While playing football, basketball and track, he graduated as valedictorian of his class. Brendan follows his parents, John, b'80, l'83, and Beverly Ramsey Mitchelson, d'81, and his grandfather, Fred Mitchelson, b'46, l'49, to the Hill.

Ben Morgan of Lenexa is ready to dive into life on Mount Oread after graduating from Saint Thomas Aquinas High School, where he was captain of the swim team, track and cross-country runner, "Grease" and "Dinner Theater" player, and lead singer for his band, Lloyd Likes Mike. Ben is the third Morgan man to venture to the Hill, after his father, Richard Morgan, c'77, m'80, and his grandfather, J.L. Morgan, c'36.

Overland Park resident Avi Morgenstern did the whole song and dance during his tenure at Blue Valley

Northwest High School, with lead roles in several of the school plays, for which he also wore the director's hat from time to time. In addition, Avi sang in the choir, played the piano and studied the cello. He continues the legacy, started by his grandparents, Aaron, '60, and Shirley Spector Rabinovitz, '54, and continued by his parents, Eric, j'78, and Shanny Rabinovitz Morgenstern, c'80, as well as his brother, Jarrod.

Cheerleader Courtney Nicholson will sing a new fight song this year. She graduated from Pratt High School and served on the student council, SADD and KAYS Club while there.

She is the daughter of Scott Nicholson, p'83, who is the son of Robert Nicholson, p'53.

David Nicholson got a kick out of life at Paola High School as the captain of the soccer team. He also played baseball all four years and tackled tough topics in the Model U.N. His KU family history includes his parents, Robert, c'69, l'72, and Sharon Carter Nicholson, p'71, and his grandparents, Robert Nicholson, c'36, and June Powell, '39.

Casey Norburg comes to KU by way of Lenexa and Shawnee Mission West High School with a bounce in her step after two years on the variety dance squad. While there, she participated in Mathletics, her church's youth group, worked as a lifeguard and donated more than 200 hours of her time to community service. Casey is the daughter of David, c'80, l'91, and Ellen Norburg, b'81, and the granddaughter of Royce Norburg, b'49.

Lauren Oberzan has got the moves. A Universal Dance Association All-Star, she graduated from Lawrence Free State High School as a star student and earned Kansas Honor Scholar, Principal's Mark of Excellence and National Honor Roll distinctions. She joins her brother, Austin, at KU. Their parents are John, j'70, and Karen Connett Oberzan, f'74, g'82. Grandmother, Ruth Womeldorf Connett, g'66, started the KU tradition.

Maine native Alexandra Panagakos, was a real ankle-breaker on the field hockey and lacrosse fields for Weston High School, where she also played the flute and sang in the chorus. She follows to the Hill her mother, Julie Dietz Panagakos, c'82, and grandparents, Gayle, b'62, and Raelene Mai Dietz, '62.

David Pederson of Topeka graduated from Washburn Rural High School, where he played on the football team. Also an Eagle Scout, he is the son of Doug Pederson, p'80, Pharm'02, and grandson of A.M. Pederson, m'51.

Nicholas Peterson of Austin, Texas, comes to KU with tongue in cheek. A theater buff from Cedar Park High School, he performed with the Penguin National Guard, an improvisational troupe, and served four years on the lacrosse team. His father is David Peterson, d'78, who is the son of Wilbur Peterson, g'52.

Basehor-Linwood High School graduate, Emily Pounds of Merriam did not have to travel far this fall. She has, however, traveled to study abroad in Denmark before journeying to the Hill. Emily also acted in several school plays and volunteered in her community. She is the daughter of Darren Roubinek, j'87, and granddaughter of Darrell, g'62, and Jerrienne Roubinek, d'59.

Ryan Ramirez of Overland Park is ready to tackle KU after graduating from Blue Valley West High School, where he played on the football field as well as the baseball diamond.
